Annual Nordic Lodge dinner celebrates the love of lutefisk

By Kathy Reed Whidbey Weekly

It may not be everyone's cup of tea, but the lure of lutefisk cannot be denied for many people of Scandinavian heritage.

The Whidbey Island Nordic Lodge, 63
Jacobs Road in Coupeville, is holding its fourth annual Lutefisk and Meatball Dinner Saturday and will host three different seatings at which to enjoy a traditional feast of lutefisk. While it is too late to get a ticket to this year's dinner, those curious about it can make a note to attend next year's dinner. There will, however, be a bake sale of traditional Scandinavian treats going on in conjunction with the dinner from about noon to 4 p.m. Saturday, to which anyone interested may stop by. Visit whidbeyislandnordiclodge.com for more informa-

One doesn't need to be of Scandinavian descent to know what lutefisk is, but just in case, event organizers told Whidbey Weekly via email it's a dish with a long history.

"Lutefisk has been a part of the Christmas season for as long as I can remember," shared Brian Petersen, member of the Nordic Lodge and head of the dinner's planning committee. "My mother made it for Christmas when I was a child. It is my understanding that the tradition was brought to the U.S. by Scandinavian immigrants."

Lutefisk is whitefish – typically cod – that has been dried, then soaked in water and lye for several days before being rinsed, soaked again, and cooked before serving. Lutefisk aficionados claim it doesn't have much flavor on its own and by the time preparation is finished, it is said to have a rather gelatinous texture.

None of this has done much to shore up its reputation.

"I think lutefisk gets a bad rap because of the way it used to be prepared, and the texture of the fish is unusual," Petersen said. "I don't know if I can describe it very well, but to me it has a somewhat 'Jello-y' texture and by itself has very little actual flavor. It's the butter, white sauce and bacon bits put over the fish that gives it a taste."

Just how the recipe for Lutefisk came to be created is somewhat of a mystery. Some legends claim it was created when Vikings burned down a neighboring village. Rain put the fire out, but fish that had been drying on racks was left submerged in the wet ashes (which produces lye). When it was discovered, the fish was rinsed and cooked. Other stories say ashes were mixed into the water when the dried fish was being reconstituted. Whether either story is true, it is fact that lye has been used to make lutefisk for years, although the process has been refined over time.

"The old methods of making lutefisk are different than today, and I believe what used to be 'hold your nose' has become quite palatable," said Peterson, who went on to describe what the Nordic Lodge's dinner also includes.

"The menu is Lutefisk, Swedish meatballs in gravy, which is again a traditional meal item," he said. "Potatoes and a vegetable round out the meal. We will also have coleslaw and another Scandinavian delicacy, pickled herring, all accompanied by lefse, a Scandinavian flat bread, and a desert of Riskrem, which is a rice pudding with a dollop of loganberry jam."

The annual Lutefisk dinner, which began in 2019, serves as a fundraiser for the Nordic Lodge as well as an event that helps the lodge fulfill its mission.

"This event is important for our lodge and the community, as it is one of our missions to expose the community to Nordic culture, and this is one way of doing that," said Petersen. "It is a fundraiser to help keep our lodge financially sound and allow us to contribute to the community."

Petersen said he thinks people enjoy coming to the annual dinner simply because it's a lot of fun.

"It is an opportunity for Scandinavians (and others) to gather and enjoy Scandinavian food, music, laughter and mingle with others of the same heritage and/or interests," he said. "For others who have not taken the opportunity to taste lutefisk and experience Nordic food or even visit our sale of Scandinavian baked goods you cannot find in the grocery store, we say

'Please join us. You are welcome.'"

Skagit Valley College receives $1 Million grant to enhance Dental Therapy Program

Skagit Valley College recently received a $1 million grant from Margaret A. Cargill Philanthropies (MACP) to further the college's dəxwxayəbus Dental Therapy program.

Skagit Valley College has received a substantial grant toward its dəx"xayəbus Dental Therapy Program, a joint effort with the Swinomish Indian Tribe.

Running from Jan. 1, 2024 to June 30, 2026, this project focuses on teacher training, student navigation, and wrap-around support to ensure student success.

The dəxwxayəbus (pronounced Dahf-hiya-buus) Dental Therapy Program, a joint effort with the Swinomish Indian Tribe, successfully launched in September 2022 with prior MACP support. This grant will address lingering barriers to student success, focusing on wrap-around navigation services in crucial areas such as financial aid, tutoring, transportation, housing, and faculty training in inclusive educational practices and cultural competency.

"As we build on the success of the initial phase of the dəxwxayəbus Dental Therapy program, this generous grant from Margaret A. Cargill Philanthropies will enable us to continue to improve the program and increase support for our students, stated Dr. Cheyanne Warren, dəx^wxayəbus Dental Therapy Program director. "The project aligns with our commitment to fostering student success and ensuring the longterm sustainability of the program."

SVC will introduce an inclusive learning community, mandatory for all program faculty. This initiative aims to ensure that every student benefits from a culturally competent and supportive learning envi-

Administrative support funded by MACP will play a key role in overseeing program operations, ensuring sustainability, and facilitating successful student placement post-graduation.

For more information on the grant and its implications for SVC's Dental Therapy program, please contact dəxwxayəbus Program Director Dr. Chevanne Warren at cheyanne.warren@skagit.edu.

Island Transit unveils bold rebranding initiatives

Island Transit, founded in 1987, is launching a comprehensive rebranding initiative, marking a departure from its longstanding visual identity, and emphasizing its dedication to progress, innovation, and environmental sustainability.

PIECES

Long associated with its original logo and branding, Island Transit recognized the need for a visual realignment to reflect its evolving mission, goals, and services under the Maximized and Zero Emission Initiatives. In collaboration with Brave New Day, a creative rebranding agency, the organization undertook an extensive rebranding project.

"As we embark on this transformative journey with our rebranding initiatives, we are not just changing our visual identity; we are redefining our commitment to progress, innovation, and environmental responsibility." said Todd Morrow, Island Transit Executive Director.

The project was a team effort, with a committee that included an employee representing each department in the agency, members of the public, a board member, and a rider who takes transit daily and relies on this service. Working collaboratively with the agency Brave New Day, Island Transit created and audited a survey that was distributed across Island County, seeking public input.

The recently completed rebranding project signifies a crucial moment in Island Transit's history, emphasizing its commitment to improving services, minimizing environmental impact, and fostering a sustainable and equitable future for residents of Island County.

This modern transformation, initiated in December 2022, involved several key

Comprehensive Brand Guidelines: Island Transit has established a set of comprehensive brand guidelines to ensure consistency across all communications and visual

New Logo and Color Scheme: A fresh, modern logo has been designed, reflecting the agency's commitment to progress. The color scheme resonates with the island's natural beauty while conveying a sense of innovation.

Distinct Visual Identity: The rebrand introduces a distinct visual identity that encapsulates Island Transit's mission, values, and commitment to sustainability.

Vehicle Schematic Drawings: Basic vehicle schematic drawings showcase the integration of the new branding across Island Transit's fleet, aligning with the Zero Emission Initiatives

Engaging Social Media and Website Visuals: The rebrand extends to Island Transit's digital presence, featuring new visuals on social media platforms and the official website for a dynamic and engaging online experience.

Typography: A carefully selected typography adds a modern and cohesive touch to the rebrand, contributing to a unified and recognizable brand image.

Voice and Messaging Strategy: Island Transit has defined a compelling voice and messaging strategy that communicates its commitment to progress, environmental responsibility, and community wellbeing.

"This rebrand represents more than a new logo – it symbolizes our agency's evolution. It is a commitment to delivering improved services, minimizing our environmental impact, and fostering a sustainable and equitable future for the vibrant community we proudly serve in Island County." said Morrow.

The agency looks forward to the continued support of the community as it enters this exciting new chapter, confident the rebrand will not only elevate the Island Transit experience but also contribute to the collective well-being of the Island County community.

About Island Transit

Island Transit has been a cornerstone of public transportation in Island County since 1987. Committed to providing fare free, safe, convenient, accessible, friendly, and environmentally conscious transit services, Island Transit serves as a vital link in connecting communities while embracing innovation for a sustainable future. Navy to host two open houses on water well sampling

The U.S. Navy will host two Open House Public Meetings on Thursday, Feb. 1, at the Oak Harbor Elks Lodge (155 NE Ernst St.) to provide information to the public about the Navy's offer to sample drinking water wells near Naval Air Station Whidbey Island.

The sampling is for certain per- and polyfluoroalkyl substances (PFAS), which may be present in off-base drinking water wells due to past use of firefighting foam or other PFAS-containing materials on base. Most of the properties within the Area 6 Landfill sampling area are served by the City of Oak Harbor water system and do not require sampling by the Navy.

The Open House Public Meetings, which will be held from 12:30 to 2:30 p.m. and from 5:00 to 7:00 p.m., will have detailed informational displays about the drinking water sampling near the Area 6 Landfill.

Additionally, information about previous drinking water sampling near Ault Field and Outlying Landing Field (OLF) Coupeville will be on display; however, the sampling areas for Ault Field and OLF Coupeville have not been changed since 2019 and 2017, respectively.

Representatives from the Navy, United States Environmental Protection Agency, Washington State Department of Ecology, Washington State Department of Health, and Island County Public Health Department will be available to answer questions you may have.

If your drinking water comes from a well in the sampling areas, and the Navy has not previously sampled your drinking water well, then the Navy would like to sample your drinking water, at no cost to you.

Property owners may schedule a drinking water well sampling appointment at either of the Open House Public Meetings, by calling and leaving a message at 1-844-WHI-PFAS (1-844-944-7327), or by emailing naswi.pfas@jacobs.com. Please include your name, property address, and telephone number.

Your story must include one or more poison prevention strategies, such as safe storage, the use of Mr. Yuk stickers or reading labels/instructions closely, and mention calling the Washington Poison Center's Poison Helpline. Entries must be submitted by Feb. 4. Additional guidelines and information: Wapc.org.

Puzzle Swap: Exchange a puzzle you've finished with a new-to-you jigsaw puzzle at the Freeland Library Sunday, Feb. 4, from 11 a.m. to 12 p.m. Puzzles brought to this swap must have no missing pieces, be in the original manufacturer's box and be in overall good condition. You will be able to exchange one puzzle for each one you bring to donate. All ages are welcome.

Natural Beauties on Display: Explore the fascinating world of rocks and gems with the Whidbey Island Gem Club, as it presents its 58th annual "Sweetheart of Gems Show" Feb. 10 and 11 at The Center in Oak Harbor (51 SE Jerome Street). Event hours are Saturday 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Sunday 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Admission to this family-friendly event is free. A variety of demonstrations will share the skills and creativity of turning rocks into jewelry and more. Vendors will be selling rough rock, polished display pieces, rock and gem tools, jewelry and other items. Educational displays, games, rock identification, and door prizes will also be featured. More information: rock9@whidbey.net.

See The Stars: A Star Party is scheduled Friday, Feb. 9 from 6:30 to 8 p.m., at Fort Nugent Park (2075 SW Fort Nugent Road, Oak Harbor). Explore the night sky and view distant galaxies, planets and nebulas at this free event hosted by the Island County Astronomical Society. No telescope is needed and people of all ages are welcome to attend. Be sure and dress warmly and note the event will be canceled if the weather is cloudy. For future event information visit Icas-wa.org and Island County Astronomical Society on Quest for a Glass Treasure: The Great Northwest Glass Quest is Feb. 16-25. Search for plastic clue balls hidden on Camano Island and in the city of Stanwood to win a hand-blown glass ball. To begin your adventure, check-in at the event's website to view and/or download the Glass Quest Guidebook at Northwestglassquest.com. You'll find frequently asked questions, easy directions to quest sites, a visitor's guide to the area and an app, with maps and all of the other information you will need. Your search for a clue ball will take you on a self-guided tour of the Stanwood and Camano area, including parks, businesses and community sites. It's free to participate, with the exception of the Discover Pass requirement for state parks.

Solve the Mystery: Sleuths of all ages are welcome to solve Langley's annual "Whodunnit" Feb. 24-25. Enjoy a day in the Village by the Sea as you view the crime scene, interview suspects, and then discover the solution. Work through the clues on either Saturday and/or Sunday; you need not be present to win in the grand prize drawing of correct solution entries at the "big reveal" on Sunday. Incorrect ballots will also be placed in a drawing for prizes. The cost to participate is just $15 per map ($12 for military, youth 16 and under, and seniors age 65-plus), which includes a chance to guess whodunnit, and possibly win great prizes. VisitLangley.

Run to Swing the Gates at Deception Pass State Park: Explore the park in either a 10K Team Scavenger Hunt, a 5K Fun Run, or a half-mile Kids Race along the trails in the park March 30. Strollers, small children and dogs are welcome for the 5K and Kids Run. All finishers (ages 5 and up) will receive a mystery award for finishing. The top three finishers of each race category in 5K Fun Run and the first-place team in the 10K Scavenger Hunt will also win a special prize. Cost is $120 per 10K Scavenger Team, $35 for the 5K, $25 ages 5 – 17, before March 9. A Washington State Discover Pass is required for event parking. Proceeds benefit the park's educational programs. Registration by March 29 is required: Runsignup.com/race/ wa/oakharbor/swingthegates. Volunteers are also welcome, email volunteer@deceptionpassfoundation.org to join the fun.

Seeking Teens Passionate About Parks:

The Deception Pass Park Foundation is looking for two teens, ages 14-18, for a year-long volunteer experience. The students will gain experience in resource management, park operations, nonprofit functioning, and environmental science. Teen Ambassadors work along side the Deception Pass Park Foundation, park staff and others, receiving valuable mentorship, life and career skills, and they will complete a project which advances the vision of improving conservation and restoration efforts in the park. Applications will be accepted through March 31. Deceptionpassfoundation.org.

Get Ready, There's Still More Winter Ahead: The Island County Emergency Management department has a wide variety of educational and informational tools to help residents be emergency ready. Learn about local hazards, connect to alert broadcasts, and educate yourself on a wide variety of pre-disaster steps you can take to minimize potential emergency effects. This vital information and connection is also available via the Island County Preparedness app for mobile phones. Connect to these resources at: Islandcountywa.gov/DEM.

Prepare Your Pets, Too: The Island County DEM encourages pet owners, parents, and individuals to spend some time learning about what they could encounter in an emergency, and prepare for it. Advice from experts instructs us on know how to respond to a variety of disasters and be equipped to be self-sufficient for two weeks, as emergency responders cannot get to everyone at once. This includes first-aid supplies, food and water, sanitation and shelter.

Get Children Ready as Well: Kids can "Be a Hero" with fun games and completing activities at the "FEMA Ready Kids" website (Ready.gov/kids). Talking points and guides to help children cope with emergencies are also provided. At the same website, teens are encouraged to be a leader in their family and community by becoming an advocate for emergency preparedness and taking steps to be a part of trained disaster response. Youth educators too, can find resources for age-appropriate discussion and the types of preparedness measures

A Word with our Publisher:

I may not dedicate the rest of my life towards Whidbey Weekly, but it is important for me to make as much of an impact with the skills that I have while I'm here.

In our January 11th issue, Jeff Pleet talked about the importance of estate planning. This is a conversation every family, every business, and every nonprofit should be having. I find proper estate/succession planning to be a crucial element for how this paper will persevere; it has become a key pillar for me as I approach tackling Whidbey Weekly.

I aspire to build from what Eric, Kathy, and TJ have started with this paper, and lay new foundations to better serve all of you. I have a history of being a catalyst for change and discovering this change occurs with study. Current learning: understanding our communities, where they're underserved, what they're celebrating, and what they're looking forward to. I hope that this paper can epitomize it all in some way for future generations.

One aspect of Whidbey Weekly that we can develop immediately is our classifieds and directories. These resources are a common figure in local community newspapers. They're well utilized and work as a go-to guide for anyone needing a quick reference, or for someone new to our community. For us, the structural changes that ensure our success into the future involve further developing our print and digital presence today. Advertising dollars (and general contributions) will help us do that, as well as afford a few more writers and designers on our staff.

Over the next month, we'll be launching public campaigns which support the growth of Whidbey Weekly and Island Times. One of the biggest contributing factors to every surviving community paper is advertising. The pages afford to grow with more paid advertisers on board. After my January communications, I have more potential writers and graphic designers than I know what to do with. With a few more advertisers on board, we'll be able to hire new talent with the intention of developing and training their skills. If everything goes according to plan, maybe one of them will be seated in this Publisher's position to proceed me. That would bring me joy.

When I approached a local legend about my plans, he stated: "You're going to need a lot of rakes." This sentiment leads me to reiterate my favorite proverb: "Many hands (rakes) make light work."

I don't know if this legend had the insight to recognize it, but I will not be satisfied with our community newspapers until there's content for everyone, every business and entity represented, and there are comics and activities for the children too. To me, this is the best way to support our island. This is the ideal foundation that I hope to leave here.

Working together to build Whidbey Weekly and Island Times is a communal effort, and worth all the while:

A plan to support our up-and-coming journalists. An updated website to better serve and support all of you. An archive for the future generations.

We have more in our plans, but for now the above will do. I'm delighted to be here to see it through.

Treat your sweetheart to cheesecake

Each year, Valentine's Day presents many opportunities for couples to show one another just how much they care. One of the ways they often do so is through homemade dinners and desserts in which love and affection are two of the most vital ingredients.

Few people will turn away a bite of something sweet come February 14th, but some may have a hankering for something other than chocolate or strawberries. Atholl Brose is a fifteenth-century Scottish drink that is similar to the popular Irish cream liqueurs. When mixed into a no-bake cheesecake batter, it can be the perfect flavoring for a creamy

ATHOLL BROSE CHEESECAKE (Serves 4 to 6)

For the cheesecake

- 3 1/2 ounces butter
- 9 ounces digestive biscuits, crushed
- 1 pound, 5 ounces cream cheese
- 2 tablespoons + 1 teaspoon Atholl Brose
- 3 1/2 ounces icing sugar
- 1 1/4 cup double cream
- 3 1/2 ounces dark chocolate, grated

To make the Atholl Brose: Pour the whiskey over the oats in a bowl and rest under a clean dish towel for 24 hours.

The next day, use a muslin (or cotton dish towel) to squeeze out the whiskey into a fresh bowl. Be sure to get every last drop! You can discard the oats.

Warm up your honey for 10 seconds in the microwave, or over a low heat in a small pan, and whisk into the Brose mix.

Add your cream and whisk again. Now let it rest in the fridge for at least $ilde{4}$ hours.

To make the cheesecake: First, melt the butter in a pan, remove the heat and add the crushed digestive biscuits. Mix well until the biscuits have absorbed all the butter.

Press into the bottom of a lined 7-inch springform tin. Place in the fridge and allow to set for an hour.

For the Atholl Brose

- 1 cup whiskey
- 2 1/2 ounces oats
- 3 teaspoons honey
- 2 tablespoons + 2 teaspoons double cream

Meanwhile, prepare the filling. Lightly whip the cream cheese, then beat in the Atholl Brose and icing sugar. Whip the cream and fold in along with the grated chocolate. When smooth, spoon evenly onto the biscuit base.

Refrigerate and allow to set for a further 2 hours, then serve with a dram of Note: Double cream is challenging to find outside of the United Kingdom. Therefore, an approximate substitution can be made my mixing 1 cup of heavy cream with 1 tablespoon of buttermilk in a lidded jar. Shake for 1 minute. Then wrap the jar in a towel and allow to sit at room temperature for 12 hours until thickened; otherwise, use heavy cream, which has a slightly lower fat content,

WEEKLY HOROSCOPES

ARIES - Mar 21/Apr 20

Something will occur this week that surprises you, Aries. You may even wonder if it is a trick being played on you. It is no trick, so buckle down for an adventure.

TAURUS - Apr 21/May 21

You have pushed your mind and body quite far over the last several days, Taurus. Now you have to slow down or pay the consequences. Do not add anything else to your list.

GEMINI – May 22/Jun 21

Gemini, you may believe you have discovered a good thing and it could be right. But don't wait too long to act since this good thing has an expiration date. The clock is ticking.

CANCER - Jun 22/Jul 22

Cancer, you might not be able to control what is happening this week, but you can control how you react to different situations. Keep your distance if an altercation arises.

LEO - Jul 23/Aug 23

Something you discover about a friend this week could leave you reeling, Leo. The signs have been there for awhile and you really should have seen it coming.

VIRGO - Aug 24/Sept 22

Virgo, if you are on the move this week, there is a chance that you will experience some interesting people along the way. At least one person might be a good networking contact.

LIBRA - Sept 23/Oct 23

More than anything right now, this week you need to relax and unwind, Libra. Take things at a slow pace, and spend more time at home with family than at work.

SCORPIO - Oct 24/Nov 22

Try not to take any financial risks right now, Scorpio. If you are planning to invest, then you may want to get all of the facts before gambling too much in the stock market.

SAGITTARIUS - Nov 23/Dec 21

This week you will be back to your best, Sagittarius. Things will work out, so use your positive attitude to the benefit of yourself and others.

CAPRICORN – Dec 22/Jan 20

Capricorn, even though you are conservative by nature, this week you are ready to take a chance of some sort. Enjoy the journey even if the efforts do not bring you enormous success.

AQUARIUS - Jan 21/Feb 18

Aquarius, a kind word from you may be all that is needed to bring a smile to someone's face. Do not underestimate the power of a kind and simple gesture.

PISCES - Feb 19/Mar 20

You don't usually lack confidence, Pisces. But you may not want to push ahead with a project for fear of failure. You should be more adventurous and not worry too much. WHY GO OVER THE BRIDGE FOR YOUR CUSTOM FRAMING & ART SUPPLIES?

OUR Community An Upbeat Question of the week

By Helen Mosbrooker

What historical person would you like to meet and why?

Laielle H., 4th grade, Oak Harbor

The historical person I would like to meet is Rosa Parks. She was brave enough not to give up her seat to a white man on the bus and was thrown in jail for it. She was a strong black woman and a big inspiration.

Patrick M., 4th grade, Oak Harbor

If I could meet a historical figure, it would be Walt Disney, because I could talk to him to know how and why he made Disney. I would ask him how he got the ideas he made. If I could meet Walt Disney, I'd ask him how he thought of Mickey Mouse. I'd tell him how big Disney grew. I'd tell him all the great movies that have been made in his name. I would tell him how much I love his movies and shows. I'd tell him how much Disney World and Disneyland grew.

Brynn Y., 4th grade, Oak Harbor

If I could meet any historical figure, it would be Amelia Mary Earhart. One reason why is because she is courageous, brave and strong. Another reason why is because she fought for women's rights and helped injured soldiers in World War I. The third reason is that she was the first woman to fly solo across the Atlantic Ocean. Amelia Earhart has won so many achievements and is a very respected figure. The fourth thing is that she's brave because she had to overcome an illness. I feel I could learn a lot from her about what it was like when she was alive. She had an amazing personality and sounds like someone who would stand up for what's right. These are just a few reasons why I'd like to meet Amelia Earhart!

Lauretta H., 4th grade, Oak Harbor

If I could meet any historical figure, I would want to meet Amelia Earhart, because she was the first woman to fly across the Atlantic Ocean, and nobody knows what happened to her when she disappeared all those years ago. I want to be a pilot myself someday, like my dad, so I'd like to talk to her about her experience flying and solve the mystery of what actually happened to her. She'd have a very interesting story to tell. I think she was very brave because she proved to everyone that women could do anything, even though they were treated differently back in those days. She followed her dreams, was passionate about aviation, and I think that she would be a great person to get to know and have a conversation with.

Keegan Z., 4th grade, Oak Harbor

There are a lot of people in history that I would want to meet, but if I had to pick one it would be Albert Einstein. Albert Einstein is an amazing person. He invented a flying car and had a lot of ideas for military and war machines. Albert thought outside the box for so many things. He predicted the theory of relativity. I would want to ask him questions like, how did you come up with these ideas, and how did you learn all this? Albert Einstein did not let the things others say bring him down. One of his most famous quotes is 'Life is like riding a bike to keep your balance you have to keep moving.' I like that quote because it is true you cannot let others bring you down.

Isla M., 4th grade, Oak Harbor

I would like to meet Anne Frank because she was curious like me and she almost survived the Holocaust. She was very brave. I think we would be good friends because

VOLUNTEER OPPORTUNITIES

Volunteer for Island Shakespeare Festival! Many hands help keep the island's only outdoor classical summer theater going and growing! Can you help? There are many opportunities throughout the year to join the ISF family as a volunteer. These opportunities are a great way to get acquainted with the organization. • Distribute Ad Packets and Posters for our Summer Season • Production: Help set up Henry the Tent/Help with scenic painting, props, or costumes • Front of House: Usher, gate, greeter, sell snacks • House an Artist: Actors/Designers need free housing June-Sept./Or partial summer • Loan a Vehicle: Actors are housed on various areas of the island and need loaner cars; can you help? • Work at the Bard's Boutique: This fun and easy volunteer job is at the Bayview Cash Store and requires only a few hours per week. • Become a Board Member: Development/Outreach/Special Skills. Please contact Angelica, angelica. metcalfe@islandshakespearefest.org, if interested in volunteering.

Big Brothers Big Sisters of Island County (BBBSIC) is actively seeking new member(s) for its board of directors. Join the board's exciting array of professionals! BBBSIC is seeking individuals who are committed to defending the potential of youth in our community through their time, skill sets, and influence in the community. To complement the existing board, candidates with expertise in accounting, law, nonprofit management, networking, or fundraising are of particular interest. Committed to diversifying its board to better represent our community, BBBSIC encourages BIPOC and LGBTQIA community members to inquire. Please contact admin@bbbsislandcounty.org for more information.

The Island County Medical Reserve Corps (ICMRC) is a local network of volunteers organized to improve the health and safety of communities on Whidbey and Camano Islands. Volunteers primarily include medical and public health professionals but other volunteers who have no healthcare backgrounds are also utilized. MRC responds to local emergencies such as natural disasters and public health emergencies. If you are interested in volunteering please contact us at Island County MRC website for application and information.

If you are looking for a meaningful volunteer opportunity, look no further! When you volunteer at one of the Habitat for Humanity of Island County stores, you are helping local families attain decent, affordable housing. Income from the stores is vital to giving families a path to homeownership. We need people who can commit to help out in our Oak Harbor or Freeland store at least two-hours per week. Schedules are flexible. Our friendly volunteers provide customer service, help with receiving donated household items and furniture, and maintain the store. We also need drivers and driver helpers who will professionally represent Habitat as they pick up donated items using our trucks. Please call either store for more information. Oak Harbor: 360-675-8733, Freeland: 360-331-6272.

College student? Student of history? History buff? Opportunities are available to spend constructive volunteer hours at the Pacific Northwest Naval Air Museum. Go to www.pnwnam.org and click on "Volunteer" or just stop by and introduce yourself.
